

Through social network
sampling, we identified 13 million “influential”
Twitter accounts.

Among those 13 million, we looked for “flocks” or “communities” of Twitter users; inside a flock, accounts follow the same hub accounts

